About IMLS

Who are we?

- IMLS is the primary source of federal support for the nation’s libraries and museums.
- We make grants, convene groups, conduct research, and publish in order to build the capacity of museums and libraries to serve the public.

Who is eligible to apply for museum grants?

- Varies by program but includes museums; libraries within museums; colleges and universities; organizations that serve museums; federally recognized Native American tribes; organizations that serve Native Hawaiians.
What is a museum?

- aquariums
- arboretums
- art museums
- botanical gardens
- children’s/youth museums
- general museums
- historic houses/sites

- history museums
- natural history/ anthropology museums
- nature centers
- planetariums
- science/technology centers
- specialized museums
- zoological parks

Museums may be standalone or administered by a governing body (e.g. college, university, tribe, or a state or local government).

Be sure to check specific program guidelines for details.
Who is not eligible to apply for IMLS funding?

- For-profit organizations
- Individuals
- Federally funded institutions
- Foreign countries or organizations

Entities that are not eligible to apply can be partners or third-party service providers.

IMLS applications have many components.

Required of All Applications

- Application for Federal Domestic Assistance/Short Organizational Form
- IMLS Supplementary Information Form (including Abstract)
- IMLS Museum Program Information Form
- Organizational Profile
- Narrative
- Schedule of Completion
- IMLS Budget Form
- Budget Justification
- List of Key Project Staff and Consultants
- Resumes

Required of Some Applications

- Strategic Plan Summary
- Proof of Nonprofit Status
- Federally Negotiated Indirect Cost Rate Agreement
- Digital Product Form
- Detailed Condition Reports and/or Conservation Treatment Proposals
- Supporting Documents
A temporary endeavor undertaken to create a unique product, service or result. A project is temporary in that it has a defined beginning and end in time, and therefore defined scope and resources. And a project is unique in that it is not a routine operation, but a specific set of operations designed to accomplish a singular goal.

--Project Management Institute
An activity is something that someone does.

It has a beginning and an end.

You know when you’ve finished it because it doesn’t need to be done any more (or it is no longer on your To Do List).

It is not a “goal,” “result,” or “outcome.” It is a thing you do as part of striving to achieve those.

Aim for a reasonable level of granularity in identifying your activities—not too much, not too little, just right.
The application narrative has three sections:

- Project Justification
- Project Work Plan
- Project Results

All are equally important.
Project Justification

- What need, problem, or challenge will your project address, and how was it identified?
- What or who will benefit from your project?
- How will your project advance your institution’s strategic plan?
- How will your project address the goals of the grant program and the project category you have chosen?
Project Work Plan

- What specific activities will you carry out?
- What are the risks to the project and are they accounted for in the work plan?
- Who will plan, implement, and manage your project?
- When and in what sequence will your activities occur?
- What time, financial, personnel, and other resources will you need to carry out the activities?
- How will you track your progress toward achieving your intended results?
- How and with whom will you share your project’s results?
Project Results

- What are your project’s intended results and how will they address the need, problem, or challenge you have identified?
  - Collections Stewardship and Public Access Projects: How will the care, condition, management, access to, and/or use of the museum collections and/or records that define the focus of your project improve?
- What data will you collect and report to measure your project’s success?
- What tangible products will result from your project?
- How will you sustain the benefit(s) of your project?

Each group will work together as a panel. Designate a spokesperson, who will gather and then share the gist of the conversation with the group.

Independently read the proposal assigned to your group and assign your Preliminary Score of 1 - 5 to each.

Summarize, discuss, share your opinions of the proposals as a group; assign your Final Score of 1 – 5 to each. (No consensus required.)

The spokespersons will report out, and we’ll discuss all the proposals.
Panel Review Criteria

1. Does the project meet the goals of Museums for America and the Collections Stewardship and Public Access project category?

2. Is the project poised for successful implementation?

3. If funded, will the project achieve its intended results?
<table>

<tr>
<td>4 – Very Good</td>
<td>The applicant’s response provides solid support for the proposed project.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 – Good</td>
<td>The applicant’s response is adequate but could be strengthened in its support for the proposed project.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 – Some Merit</td>
<td>The applicant’s response is flawed and does not adequately support the proposed project.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1 – Inadequate / Insufficient</td>
<td>The applicant’s response is inadequate or provides insufficient information to allow for a confident evaluation.</td>

Full-Group Report-Out and Discussion

- Very brief summary of the proposal
- Summary of perspectives on strengths and weaknesses
- Range of scores
- Were there differences of opinion among panelists? What about?
- Did opinions change as the result of the discussion?
- What was the most challenging aspect of scoring an application?
- What one piece of advice would you give an IMLS grant applicant, based on this experience?
